

God's Trombones

Saturday, Sept. 19
7:30 pm
Winyah Auditorium

$20—included in the Rice Forum pass

The theatrical performance of James Weldon Johnson's "God's Trombones: Seven Negro Poems in Verse" by Ron and Natalie Daise is a tribute to African American culture and heritage. The production includes a cappella selections of Gullah spirituals and appeals to lovers of inspirational writing, scholars of African-American culture, and persons who appreciate great poetry.

Ron Daise, Brookgreen Garden's Vice President for Creative Education, is an author, performing artist, and cultural preservationist. Natalie Daise is a visual artist, storyteller, and creative catalyst. The husband-and-wife team is a recipient of the 1996 SC Order of the Palmetto and the 1997 State of South Carolina Folk Heritage Award and served as star and cultural consultants of Nick Jr. TV's "Gullah Gullah Island" of the 1990s.
